

Allergen Chart

This allergen list includes the eight major food allergens identified by the United States Food and Drug Administration (FDA): eggs, milk, peanuts, shellfish, soy, tree nuts and wheat. Since soybean oil is highly refined, which removes the allergenic soy protein, the FDA does not require foods that contain soybean oil to be listed as a soy allergen. Although soy lecithin is refined oil, research has shown it may contain trace amounts of soy protein. For this reason, items that contain soy lecithin are marked as containing "soybeans."

When checking for allergens, it is important to note that all of our fried menu items are cooked using shared frying oil. For example, Potato Olés® are fried in the same fryer as Crunchy Chicken, and Churros. This may cause a menu item to come in contact with an allergen from the other menu item. There is no guarantee that cross-contact with other allergens will not occur.
